Attendees Can Expect Sold Out Exhibit Floor for MPF Convention

(Buffalo, MN)...With less than two months to go, the 2010 Midwest Poultry Federation (MPF) Convention's booth space is nearly sold out. MPF will welcome approximately 190 exhibiting companies to its show floor this year.

"The Exhibit Hall will feature 340 exhibits – more than ever before – that showcase the latest in technology, products and services for your business," said MPF President Pete Rothfork, a turkey producer from Melrose, MN. "Attendees will have the opportunity to meet with vendors of poualts, equipment, feed ingredients, animal health products and so many other companies."

Exhibits will be open March 17-18 at Saint Paul RiverCentre in St. Paul, Minnesota. Show floor hours will be 9 a.m. – 5 p.m. on March 17 and 9 a.m. – 1 p.m. on March 18.

A current list of exhibiting companies is available at www.midwestpoultry.com

Exhibitor Product Demonstrations also will be available, offering attendees the chance to look at a product or service in a more in-depth way, while also networking with company sales representatives. Watch for a schedule of Exhibitor Product Demonstrations at the registration area as well as in the onsite MPF Convention Guide.
